STRANGE BIRDS

SEVEN LOSE LIVES IN INDIANA WRECK

Passenger Train Crashes Into Freight on Siding at Attica

(By the Associated Press)
ATTICA, Ind., June 2.—Seven persons are dead and twenty injured as a result of a collision last night between eastbound Wabash railroad passenger train number two and a freight train on a siding. The passenger train was hurled against the freight engine and several persons were badly scalded by steam from the wrecked locomotive.

The passenger train, one of the fastest on the system, hit a spit rail and crashed into the freight. The engine and several cars of the passenger train passed over the place believed to have been defective. The remainder of the train, which consisted mostly of Pullman cars, left the track, however, and were hurled against the freight.

Doctors, nurses, and ambulances were rushed to the scene of the wreck from West Lebanon, Indiana; Danville, Illinois; Williamsport, Indiana, and other neighboring cities. Many of the injured were sent to hospitals in various towns.

W. H. Eckard, division superintendent of the Wabash, after an investigation, issued a statement attributing the collision to the failure of David E. Torrence of Peru, Indiana, brakeman on the freight train, to lock a switch after the freight train had run upon the siding. Eckard said the switch apparently came open while the passenger train was passing over, causing the sleeping cars to crash against the freight engine.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 2.—George Pochoska, alleged to have sold liquor to three boys who were in a motor car that last Friday night ran down and killed Louise Hough on a paved highway near Bethany, was arrested today by Tom Cavar, sheriff. No formal charges have been lodged against him.

J. K. Wright, county attorney, was still uncertain today what charges would be made against Erwin Cotter, Billie Enders, and Harold Chesnut, the occupants of the death car. He said, however, that it would not be murder.

LA FOLLETTE WANTS ONLY SHORT RECESS

Insists Congress Should Resume After Thirty Day Break

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 2.—While the house was voting today to adjourn Saturday Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, opened a fight to have congress resume its session after the national political conventions.

The Wisconsin senator, leader of the insurgent group, introduced a resolution under which a recess would be taken until July 9, after which a specific agricultural and transportation program would be embarked upon.

Senator La Follette's resolution, proposed as a substitute for the routine adjournment measure already prepared by administration leaders and scheduled to be acted upon tonight, recited statistics which he said showed "conclusive evidence of alarming conditions in the agricultural states."

Market conditions, as reflected in foreclosures, mortgages, and a long succession of bank failures, particularly in the wheat belt, were cited as indicating the "economic life of the nation was threatened by continuation of the farm depression."

BOOSTERS FOR DELPHI TEMPLE LEAVE FOR K.C.

Special Train Carrying Large Crowd Leaves Ada For Convention

ENTHUSIASM HIGH

Prepared For Hard Fight to Secure Temple For Ada

The Delphi Shrine temple (proposed) special train pulled out of Ada this morning at 8:45 having on board some forty or fifty from Ada and a number from other points to the south. They expect to hit Kansas City on all four feet and make it known in unmistakable terms that Ada wants the temple and is in dead earnest about the matter.

The DeMolay band struck up a lively air on the street shortly after 8 o'clock and the wearers of the fez fell in line and marched to the train. A large number of friends and well wishers gathered at the station to bid them a prosperous journey.

Besides the Darters themselves a number of ladies were on the train. The DeMolay band will do its part in creating enthusiasm for Ada.

This train is strictly a Delphi proposition and will not be hooked onto any other special enroute to Kansas City. The News was informed by T. B. Blake just before it departed.

William Haney Meets Death In Battle With Peoria Police

(By the Associated Press)
PEORIA, Ill., June 2.—William Haney, 27, alleged western bank robber, was shot and fatally wounded by a city detective and two operatives here yesterday.

Haney was wanted by authorities in Winfield, Kansas, for participation in the daylight robbery of the bank at Rock, Kansas, last January. He is said to have been implicated in three or four other bank robberies in Oklahoma but never had served time.

Haney was captured after a thrilling gun fight and held to hand conflict in a house which attracted several hundred persons.

Haney succeeded in making his escape after the robbery of the Rock bank. With him at the time of the robbery were his wife, Christiana Hendrickson, twenty-year old Peoria girl, and Oscar Rhodes, whose home is unknown.

Work of Pardon and Parole System Takes Disastrous Slump

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 2.—Work of the pardon and parole board of the state has slumped to such an extent during the past six months, employers are now able to complete their day's work in eight hours, according to Mrs. Nina Young pardon and parole attorney. During 1923 the offices were always crowded with persons seeking paroles, reprieves and pardons and as many as 150 cases were heard in one day, Mrs. Young said. Now scarcely more than 12 are ever heard in one day.

Before the Trapp administration, Mrs. Young said she and other employees of the pardon board, were visited at their homes by persons seeking clemency for convicts. Often during the middle of the night persons would call, urging a speedy decision on their case the following day, she said.

FIRST SKIRMISH IN FRANKS MURDER CASE PREPARING

Expected to be Hard Fought Battle With Millions on Both Sides

HABEAS CORPUS SOUGHT

Accused Boys Go Over Route Taken With Kidnapped Youth

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 2.—States Attorney Crowe announced today as attorneys began their legal battle in behalf of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapers and slayers of 14-year-old Robert Franks, that he would seek two grand jury indictments against them tomorrow.

The state attorney's announcement came when petitions for writs of habeas corpus were presented in criminal court by counsel employed by the millionaire fathers of Leopold and Loeb.

Indictments charging kidnapping for ransom and murder both punishable by death, will be asked, Mr. Crowe said.

Chief Justice Caverly continued the hearing on the writs until June 6, and ordered the boys sent to jail without bond, placing them in the custody of the sheriff as sought by the defense attorneys.

The legal battles into which the millions of the Leopolds and Loeb, estimated as high as $25,000,000 will be thrown in an effort to save the boys from the gallows, is intended merely to permit legal counsel to consult with them. The attorneys said they did not expect to free them.

Having won their first skirmish counsel immediately went into conference with the prisoners. They intimated that the two youths would not be allowed to testify at the inquest set for later today.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 2.—The first skirmish in what was expected to be one of the Illinois juristic battles in the history of Illinois jurisprudence was set for today when attorneys for Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, sons of millionaire Chicago families and confessed kidnapers and slayers of 14-year-old Robert Franks, also a millionaire's son, demanded their release on writs of habeas corpus.

The defense attorneys contended that the youths have not been permitted to discuss their predicament with counsel chosen by the Leopold and Loeb families and that the state has had alienists examine the boys in an effort to forestall a possible plea of insanity.

The youthful kidnappers-slayers, who claimed they killed the lad through a spirit of adventure as well as for the $10,000 ransom they demanded of Jacob M. Frank, the father, gained a new sensation last night—that of being relegated alone to police precinct cells with special guards to keep them from committing suicide.

Accompanied by detectives and newspapermen States Attorney Crowe yesterday took the boys over the route they had traversed with the body of young Franks. Everywhere the crowd gathered quickly. Undeterred by the curious throng the youths aided in piecing together the substantiating evidence which with their confession Mr. Crowe regarded as sufficient to gain the hangman's noose.

Young Leopold, whose father is a manufacturer and lake shipping magnate, is sure, according to Mr. Crowe and newspaper men who heard the conversation, that money can do anything and through use of it he hoped to avoid the gallows.

"You know," he said, "we have got a lot of dough. I don't know how many millions. How about fixing this thing up by getting to a few jurors?"

Mr. Crowe merely smiled in reply.

Loeb, son of the vice-president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was less sure but hopeful.

The prisoners were permitted to telephone their parents last night. Loeb talking to his mother, assured her repeatedly that he had committed the murder.

Young Leopold assumed a business-like conversation. His father is ill and his mother dead.

"Send me a change of clothes, and isn't it about time you employed an attorney for me?" he was reported as saying. "Yes, I did it. We have got to face it and make the best of it."

Mrs. Franks, mother of the slain boy, is reported in a serious condition. The lad was a cousin, once removed, of Loeb and Mrs. Franks suffered a relapse when she was informed who had killed her boy. She had not recovered from the blow of Robert's death.

A young coed at the University of Chicago, where Leopold was a postgraduate law student and Loeb a post graduate student in history, has revealed that on several occasions since the slaying Leopold had joked her about the matter. Once, she said, she had told Leopold that it would be a good joke for him to confess the crime and for her to claim the $16,000 reward offered.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
O COME, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our maker. For He is our God, and we are the people of His pasture.—Psalm 95:6, 7.

McADOO OR DARK HORSE.
It is practically assured that William Gibbs McAdoo will go into the Democratic convention in New York city with more votes than any other candidate for the presidency: It is also practically assured that he will not have enough votes to nominate him. Were a majority of the votes enough to nominate, there seems to be little doubt that the former secretary of the treasury would run away with the coveted plum. The two-thirds rule, however, puts a different color on the matter.
One thing is practically assured, it seems to us. The progressive and dry parts of the party will not accept Governor Smith of New York. This means that Smith, who will go into the convention with the second largest delegation, cannot get the nomination. The only logical thing, therefore, to follow is that either McAdoo will be nominated or the nomination will go to some dark horse like Carter Glass of Virginia or Davis of West Virginia or Ralston of Indiana.

A cartoon in an exchange portrays shearing time arriving in Europe. With the Europeans the American tourist is the lamb, sheep or goat, whichever way you want it, and they never fail to fleece their victims good and plenty. However, the Americans appear to like the process and return year after year, evidently of the opinion that to have it known that they have been fleeced in Europe is a sign of being up in the world. Last year there was great complaint among travelers, especially from those who made a tour of Germany, but the old game goes on.

Poincare and his ministry have resigned after a tenure of two and one-half years, of the longest terms ever served by a French cabinet. The recent election went against his party and there was nothing to do except step out and let the winners try their hand at guiding the ship of state. In the half century of the history of the French republic the average life of a cabinet has been less than one year, it being hard to hold a majority in the chamber of deputies any length of time. The French are notoriously fickle and changeable and the hero of today is the object of vituperation tomorrow.

The News wishes the Shriners of Ada and their friends who are helping them in their efforts to put over the Delphi temple proposition the best of luck. It is a big undertaking but this is a live bunch in the habit of putting big things over, hence there is every reason to believe they will win. A temple at Ada would be a highly desirable enterprise and we hope to see the brick being laid before another year rolls around.

Trotsky is said to be in the saddle in the Moscow bolshevik government again. However, since the death of Lenin the Russian broncho has been very uncertain in his behaviour and just how long Trotsky will be able to keep his seat is a uncertain matter. Besides that too many others want a chance at the saddle and it may be that several cockleburrs have already been placed under Trotsky's blanket.

After a year of effort the regents of the University of Texas have succeeded in securing a president for their institution. The regents of Oklahoma have been casting about but in view of Dr. Brooks' experience first class men, of the type needed, are leery about risking their reputations by tackling the job. Politics and school administration do not mix well.

Any fool can run along the bank and shout to a drowning man advising him to swim or grab a floating log when there is no log but the practical man tries to shove the log or throw a rope to the sinking man instead of wasting his breath telling him what he ought to do.

There is no doubt about the American people desiring to put honest men into office this year all the way from precinct to national officers but it is a hard matter to distinguish between the real sheep and the sheep masquerading in sheeps' clothing.

Samuel G. Blythe has discovered that no one can tell who will be the Democratic nominee for President. We could have informed him of that a year or two ago.

In firing 107 employees the Edison Storage Battery Co. of New Jersey took pains to inform the departing workers that they had lost their jobs for the following reasons:

- 1. Partisan political investigations at Washington.
- 2. Passage of the soldiers' bonus bill.
- 3. Failure of congress to adopt the Mellon tax plan.

Business may be due for a slump, nationally, but the slump is not and will not be due to the reasons set forth by the Edison Storage Battery Co. A more fundamental cause may be found in the policy of isolation the American government has pursued during the last few years, which policy will be more and more expensive as time goes on. Furthermore, business slumps usually accompany national elections.

But let's study the reasoning behind this arbitrary announcement of the battery company.

Were the investigations in Washington simply partisan politics?

The Veterans' Bureau investigation was carried out by a committee composed of two Republicans and one Democrat, and all three members signed the same report.

The oil investigation was made by a standing senate committee, the majority of the members of which were Republicans.

The investigation of the Department of justice is being conducted by a committee composed of three Republicans and two Democrats.

So much for that. But suppose the investigations had been partisan politics. Would it not have been better to expose the crookedness regardless of the purity of motives behind the inquiries than to have had the rotten conditions perpetuated?

The bonus and the Mellon bill?

Well, taxes have been reduced despite the bonus. Business has been good during the last few years with tax rates more than 25 percent higher than those imposed in the new tax bill.

Everyone with an income of less than $68,000 will pay lower taxes under the Simmons rates than under the Mellon rates, and everyone, no matter how poor or how wealthy, will pay less taxes under the Simmons rates than under the present law.

The three reasons cited by the Edison Co. are all false.

The real purpose, of course, was to influence the votes of working men by browbeating them into believing politically as their employers want them to think.

President Monroe Died in Poverty.

President Monroe author of the Monroe doctrine, died in poverty. An American historical association will now endeavor to preserve the home in which he died. Monroe met reverses in Virginia. They went to New York where he spent the remainder of his life with his sister. It is told of the fifth president of the United States, that when he was down and out, his appearance attracted a passerby who inquired of him his trouble. Monroe replied that he was pondering over future employment, whereupon the stranger asked what he could do and what he had done; in brief what was his business. The author of the Monroe Doctrine said, "I don't know that I have any particular business, but I was once president of the United States." Monroe was first a lawyer, then a statesman. He is buried in Hollywood cemetery, Richmond, Va.

Two Oklahoma Girls In Bible Training School at Kansas City

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 2.—In the thirty-first class to be graduated from the Scarritt Bible and Training school in Kansas City, on June 3, Oklahoma will be represented by two students, Miss Elza Mae Lee of Kiowa and Miss Bessie Lucille Lindsay of McCurtain.

The Scarritt graduating class of 1924 numbers 27 young women, eight of whom are appointed missionaries to foreign countries, three are deaconesses, and the remainder will work as home missionaries. Miss Lee will work in her home state, having been assigned to service at Oklahoma City.

Special interest attaches to the approaching exercises as this is the last commencement of the historic school in its present building, since the Board of Missions of the M. E. church, South, who own and control the institution, have completed plans for moving the school to Nashville, Tenn. After the move, the institution will be enlarged and reorganized under the name of "Scarritt College for Christian Workers," and will operate as an A-grade college, affiliated with George Peabody for teachers.

MARY'S GOT THE RIGHT DOPE NOW

Mary bought a little car
As red as red can be,
In which she meant to motor
From sea to shinning sea.

She drove about a thousand miles—
Her tires began to blow;
And Mary's dreams of traveling
Lost all their rosy glow.

She motored to a tire shop
And asked them for their best,
They told her KELLEY-SPRINGFIELD'S
Would outlast all the rest.

So she put four KELLEY KANT-SLIPS
Upon her car so red,
And drove from San Francisco
All the way to Marblehead.

Mary's got the right dope now!

Meeting at Church Of Christ Sustains Excellent Interest

The largest audience of the meeting assembled at the Church of Christ, on East Main street yesterday evening. The song service, led by A. L. Hall was excellent. The Evangelist C. L. Wilkerson used as subject, "The Two Laws of Pardon and God's Willingness to Save." Yesterday morning his subject was, "Prayer."

Selections from the sermons follow: "Two things are necessary in prayer, a sense of our obligations and the feeling of dependence. We should not neglect to pray even though we may not know just how much it avails."

"In acceptable prayer we should ask in keeping with his will. Our hearts should be examined and be made free from envy and strife. See that our motives are not selfish and manifest the spirit of forgiveness."

The evening subject in part: "We look to the Acts of the Apostles for examples of conversion. The conversion of the three thousand on Pentecost; the Eunuch to whom Phillip preached; the jailer and his house are in point of mention. God is willing when men yield."

Services at 3 p. m., and at 8 p. m.

OIL NEWS

Hughes in section 28-4-7 late Saturday evening drilled into the sand tapped at 708 feet and drilled through it, continuing to make hole Saturday night and Sunday. The sand proved to be about 25 feet thick, though hard, and all carrying some oil.

The judge is deepening the hole, expecting to pick up another oil sand before any additional water is encountered. As it is now he has about 135 feet of open hole, but the well is free from water.

It was difficult to decide whether to shoot the sand or go on deeper, but the latter plan was finally decided upon. Within two or three days it ought to be possible to determine what kind of a well it will make in the shallow sands.

There is much oil about the rig, a fair grade, testing around 33 degrees gravity.

Chief of Police Wins Eight Years Fight

Fighting for his health as well as for law and order, Chief of Police M. L. Thomas, of Purcell, Okla., has at last been victorious after an eight years battle.

"It was this new medicine Karnak that finally stopped by troubles and fixed me up with a gain of twelve pounds in weight," says Chief Thomas.

"It made no difference what I ate, everything seemed to settle in a hard mass in my stomach with a knotty, lumpy feeling and then I could hardly get my breath. Although I tried every sort of treatment I finally got so weak and lost so much weight it looked like I would soon have to give up entirely. But I have not had a bit of trouble since I finished the first half bottle of Karnak and three bottles of the medicine has put me back in tip-top health in every way, with a gain of twelve pounds in weight and lots of strength and energy. Karnak is all that is claimed for it and I am glad to help others by recommending it publicly."

Karnak is sold in Ada exclusively at Gwin & Mays and in Stonewall at Chas. Burnett's.—Adv.

When Bronsky Pulled the Trigger

By CHARLES E. BAXTER
(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

BRONSKY crept up the alley to the side entrance of the tailor's shop. In his hand he clutched a revolver. His face was beaded with sweat. Only the passion of madness in his heart nerved him to the deed he had planned.

Schmidt had fired him that morning, after a bitter quarrel—called him a thief. Him, Bronsky, who had never done a crooked thing in his life. A twenty-dollar bill had disappeared from the drawer in which Schmidt kept his money. And he, Bronsky, had served Schmidt faithfully for two years.

Fired—at such a time as this, when a dozen tailors were looking for every job. Fired—with a wife just recovering from a serious illness, and no money in the bank. The little tailor was determined that Schmidt should pay to the last penny—pay with his life.

It was a little shop. Schmidt and Bronsky were the sole workers, and they worked late every morning. Now Schmidt would be working alone. Bronsky would creep in by the unlocked door and confront him.

But why plan it? Why not act? Softly Bronsky opened the side door. It led into the little kitchen where Schmidt did his housekeeping. Beyond was the little dark bedroom, then a curtain, then the tailor's shop.

Bronsky blinked and peered with his short-sighted eyes as he stepped into the light of the kitchen. But the little bedroom behind was very quiet. And only the rattle of passing traffic and the distant rumble of the elevated railroad came to his ears. He advanced to the curtain.

The light was burning low in the tailor's shop, but not too low for Bronsky to see Schmidt's head and shoulders, draped in the new gray suit Schmidt had made for himself, beyond the angle of the table. How stiffly Schmidt held himself. In imagination Bronsky could see him stitching, stitching. He grasped the revolver more tightly. He took aim from behind the curtains.

For just a moment Bronsky hesitated as the significance of his projected act came home to him. Then he aimed and pulled the trigger.

With a clatter Schmidt fell forward upon the floor. He disappeared.

And instantly a horror of his deed came over Bronsky. He yelled, he started forward, intent now on trying to staunch the blood. But he dared not face that blood.

The little man staggered into the room and dropped in a dead faint upon the floor.

Through that unconsciousness, however, there persisted the awful vision of the gallows. The gallows, from which he swung, a limp body at the end of a rope. The awful cap over his face, the suspense, the treading suddenly on emptiness.

Slowly he came back to consciousness in a blaze of light. Hands were roughly clasping him. He imagined that it was the hangman.

"No, no!" he screamed. "Leave me! Leave me! I didn't mean to kill him! I don't want to die!"

A peal of laughter rang savagely in his ears. He opened his eyes. Consciousness was fully restored. He was lying upon the floor of the tailor shop, the discharged revolver at his side, and the man who was holding him was Schmidt.

He stared up incredulously into the tailor's face. "You ain't dead, then?" he stammered. "Let me go! I was mad, because you fired me!"

Schmidt's eyes contracted. "So! It was to kill me that you came, huh?" he ejaculated. "I heard the gun go off when I was outside, and I came running in to find you lying on the floor. Guess you hurted yourself more than me."

"You're a fool, Bronsky. I wanted to tell you I found that twenty dollars after you'd gone. It had slipped down behind the drawer of the desk. And I was going to give you your job back."

"Oh, mister, please forgive me!" groaned Bronsky.

"Well, all right, you can come back. But you gives me that gun. And I don't raise you now—not for six months. And you pay two dollar a week for the damage you done."

"But you ain't wounded?" stammered Bronsky.

Grimacing, Schmidt led the way around the table to where the dummy head and shoulders lay, a bullet hole through the cloth of Schmidt's new coat that draped them.

THIRTY-EIGHT GIRLS LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—A morgue and a hospital today housed all the 38 subnormal girls who were in the care of the Hope Development School at Playa Del Rey, southwest of here, when the institution was razed by fire Saturday night.

Twenty of the charred and twisted forms of what had been children of less than ten years old, girls in their teens, and of young women in the twenties but still children in mentality, were being prepared for burial at a Venice mortuary near the scene of the blaze.

Eighteen of the charges, most of them suffering from minor burns, were in St. Catherine's hospital at Santa Monica.

Also in the morgue were the bodies of Mrs. Drew Thomas, 48, head matron of the school, who sacrificed her life in a vain effort to lead her charges from the flame-swept structure, and Wilfred Ringer, 14, adopted son of Mrs. Mary Jacobs, operator of the school.

OSAGE INDIAN TRIBES BATTLE IN ELECTIONS

(By the Associated Press)

PAWBUKA, Okla., June 2.—"Full Blood" and "Progressive" parties of the Osage Indian tribe clashed here today at the biennial tribal election, with both factions seeking to gain control of the administrative body of the nation.

The battle of ballots will take place at the Council house of the Indian Village near here when chief assistant chief and members of the council will be elected.

The election promises to be one of the most closefisted contests in the history of the tribe, leading members say, and both the "Full Bloods" and "Progressives" predict victory. The so-called progressive element is made up of mixed-blood tribe members, a leader explained.

The "Progressive" nominated the following tickets; for chief, Fred Lookout; for assistant chief, Charles Whitehorn; for members of the council, S. C. Wheeler, George Albert, Rogers, Leahy, Anthony Carlton, John Oberlin, Clement DeNoya, Fred Lookout, Jr., and Francis N. Revard.

The "Full Blood" ticket is headed by Paul Red Eagle, candidate for chief, William J. Pryor is the assistant chief standard bearer, and the "full blood" candidates for the council are: Kaw-wah-ho-tsa, Pierce St John, Ed Cox, John Abbott, Long Bow, Frank Lessart, Charles Brown and James Tayrain.

COALGATE FISHERMEN PULL A NEW STUNT

A new stunt has been pulled by Leslie Cardwell and Jess Patty that will revolutionize the sports of fishing for bass with live bait. These two Isaac Waltons captured two hundred fine silver-side minnows at Coalgate last week and took them over to the ice plant and had them frozen into a cake of ice, weighing three hundred pounds. They loaded the ice on the Ford fishing truck, carried it to Little River in the Kiamichi mountains.

When they melted the ice three days after it had been frozen, the minnows all came alive and they proceeded to angle for the big game fish with live bait. Cardwell and Patty are still on Little River, but John Phillips and Rery Roy Curtis, who visited them last Saturday and Sunday, confirmed the report above made, "That minnows frozen in ice will live again."

Many fishermen of Coalgate who knew of the method used by these two gentlemen will be interested to know that it was a success. When Jim Covington was told of the above he shook his head and said: "It may be so but I bet every last minnow had pneumonia."—Coalgate Record.

More Than Five Hundred Will Receive Their Degrees Tuesday

(By the Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., June 2.—The University of Oklahoma was in the midst of commencement exercises today with hundreds of visitors in Norman to take part.

Today was given over largely to quinquennial class reunions. Classes of 1899, 1904, 1909, 1914 and 1919 mingled with the class of 1924. Dances, swimming parties and a banquet featured the five year class gatherings.

Five hundred and sixty-four students will be graduated tomorrow. It was announced today by Dr. J. S. Buchanan, acting president of the university. Five hundred and sixty-nine degrees will be awarded. They will be conferred following the commencement address to be delivered by Professor Joseph V. Denney of Ohio State University.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered yesterday by the Rev. Lincoln McConnell of Oklahoma City.

McKeown and is doing college work also.

WORK ON CANADIAN BRIDGE DELAYED BY HIGH WATER

Work on the Canadian bridge near Tyrola has made rather slow progress of late due to high water in the river. One tube in the center of the river was driven to bed rock sometime ago but the high water has prevented much being done on the other.

The largest rise two or three weeks ago carried off a boiler and it became so deeply embedded in the quicksand that no effort was made to recover it.

When the work in the middle of the river is finally completed it is expected that the project will be pushed to rapid completion.

! ruined

Many a first impression has been ruined by some seemingly little thing

It pays in life to be able to make people like you. And so often it is some seemingly very little thing that may hold you back.

For example, if a person's teeth are unclean, you will automatically hold this against him. And all the while this same analysis is being made of you.

Listerine Tooth Paste cleans teeth a new way. At last our chemists have discovered a polishing ingredient that really cleans without scratching the enamel—a difficult problem finally solved.

A large tube of Listerine Tooth Paste is only 25 cents; at your druggist's.—Lambert Pharmacal Co., Saint Louis, U. S. A.

published. Mrs. Hahn said: "Yes, indeed, for I firmly believe the medicine saved my life. Following an attack of flu two years ago I remained prostrate and helpless, and grew weaker instead of better. My condition was one of weakness and exhaustion, no appetite, stomach disorders, and extreme nervousness."

"It seemed that everything was done for me that could be, but I just could not get on my feet again until I tried Tanlac. Then I was soon well, strong and happy. I take Tanlac occasionally now and my good health is the talk of my friends. Gratitude prompts me to let every suffering person I can know about Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

KEY REVOLUTIONIZES PRISON INDUSTRIES

McALESTER, June 2.—Six hundred pairs of shoes, the first of a consignment of 1,700 pairs, were shipped from the shoe factory of the Oklahoma penitentiary Thursday.

The shoe factory at the prison works fifteen men under the direct supervision of an expert, and Col. W. S. Key, warden of the prison, says it is his plan to have the factory make enough shoes for all state institutions, and supply enough outside trade to make the factory self-sustaining. Practically every industry in the prison is now running on full time. The twine plant, the shirt factory, the wagon factory and brick plant, together with the 2,000-acre farm, are beehives of industry. Key announces it as his intention to not only make the prison self-sustaining, but a dividend-maker for the state.

Things You Should Know About the Ice Cream You Eat

ICE CREAM manufactured in a Modern, UP-TO-DATE plant is as far superior to the "old tub method" of making ice cream, as the automobile of today is superior to the crude, noisy old machine of 15 years ago.

The old crude plant consisting simply of one or two iron tub freezers, and a few cans and dipping vessels, being almost impossible to keep sanitary, has been discarded for modern equipment consisting of:—

- (1) TESTING MACHINE, to determine the exact richness and flavor of all ingredients going into the mix.
- (2) PASTURIZER, of sanitary metal construction, for destroying all harmful bacteria which might be present in the mix.
- (3) VISCOLIZER, or homogenizing machine, which forces the mix through small spray opening, at a 2000 pound or higher pressure, to break up all fat globules into minute particles, insuring a smooth, velvety Ice Cream, and the same richness throughout.
- (4) MIXING VAT, containing the same sanitary pipe and construction as the Pasturizer, for the further distribution of butter fat contents, flavor, etc.
- (5) Continuous, SANITARY FREEZERS, made of composition metal, and so enclosed as to preclude the possibility of any impurities entering.
- (6) Large STEAMING AND HOT WATER VAT, for thoroughly sterilizing and cleansing all cans and equipment.
- (7) COOLING AND HARDENING ROOMS, which may be held at as low as zero temperature, for the further hardening of ice cream, and the proper preservation of sweet cream, milk, fruits, etc.
- (8) PARAFINED CAN LINERS, and parchment paper tops, which prevents Ice Cream from coming in contact with metal of can or can top.

MADE-RITE Ice Cream, of which we are the manufacturers, is true to it's name; It is made right, and enjoys the distinction of reaching its high state of perfection through the modern process just mentioned.

Don't be satisfied with simply ordering "Ice Cream."

WHAT ABOUT FATHER?

Does Father have a fair chance in this striving, thriving democracy of ours?

The praises of Mother have been told in song and story for untold ages—even Son and Daughter, in various stages of development, have had their delighted chroniclers, but most writers have overlooked the nominal head of the family. Father has been used merely as a background for wife, son or daughter. And it must be confessed that that it what he is in perhaps the majority of instances in America.

Father is the breadwinner—"a good thing" to be plucked and used in various ways by the members of his family—always striving to make more money to give his wife and children a better home, better clothes, more delicate food, a summer holiday in the mountains or at the sea.

Just because he is the background for his family, he has been neglected by novelists, dramatists and motion picture writers. But now comes in the person of Rupert Hughes, Goldwyn author and director, a celebrant of the virtues of the Father of the average American family. His latest motion picture, "Remembrance," is devoted to chronicling the life and struggles of "Pop" Grout and his little business in a middling American town. "Remembrance" is coming to the American theatre for two days, beginning Wednesday. Every father will want to see it, and every mother wife, son and daughter should see it. Father should round up his entire family and take them to see this super-photoplay. It will give them a new respect for Father and a new understanding and sympathy with the daily problems and perplexities which confront him.

Mr. Hughes has done in "Remembrance" for Father what he did in "The Old Nest" for Mother. The two photoplays will long be linked together in the memories of those who have seen them. Taken together they form an epic of American family life. "Remembrance" has all the homely, fascinating human detail which sets Rupert Hughes' Goldwyn photoplays apart from all others; it has humor and pathos, dramatic action and suspense.

LIBRARY SCIENCE
NEW O. U. COURSE

Librarians to be Given Special Attention in New Summer Study

NORMAN, April 7.—Special training in library science for high school, public school and city librarians will be given as a course by the University of Oklahoma during the 1924 summer session. The library science course will be conducted during the first six weeks of the summer session, according to J. L. Rader, university librarian who has charge of the work.

Rader, with two assistants, will conduct the short course and the university library, which is one of the most complete in the state of Oklahoma and contains more than 55,000 volumes as well as being the Library of Congress card depositary in the state of Oklahoma, will be used as the laboratory.

Miss Vera M. Dixon, superintendent of school libraries of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Grace E. Herriek, librarian of the Western College for Women library of Oxford, Ohio, are the special instructors who will aid Rader.

Rader and Miss Herriek are both graduates of the school of library science of the University of Illinois, Miss Herriek with the bachelor of library science degree, and Miss Dixon is a graduate of the Pratt Institute library school of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Work given during the short course will be held up to the standard set by the American Library association and will be comparable to the work given in the recognized technical library schools offering degrees such as the University of Illinois, Pratt Institute and University of Wisconsin, Rader said.

Library organization did not begin in America until about 1875 and library schools are a product of this century, Rader said. There are now about 12 schools in America giving regular library science work and several of the leading universities and colleges are giving shot courses such as we are going to give this summer, Rader said.

WHEAT IS LOSER IN MAY REPORTS

Wheat Suffers Six Percent Loss For Condition of Last Month

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 2.—Wheat suffered a six per cent loss in condition during May due to insect action in the north central district, according to the June crop review of the Oklahoma state board of agriculture, announced today. The grain is 84 per cent of normal as compared with 90 per cent on May 1, the board declared.

A yield of 45,766,000 bushels is forecast, "providing average weather conditions prevail throughout the month of June."

Hessian flies and green bugs are prevalent in the north-central wheat belt, reports to the board indicated, the review said.

"Cool, wet weather, also, has its effect at a time when abundant sunshine is necessary to bring the crop to maturity," the report declared. The crop on June 1 last year was 73 per cent of normal.

"Notwithstanding a lower condition figure this month over last, a deterioration usually occurs between the periods and the par on the crop is accordingly higher," the review stated. "A condition of 87 per cent on June 1 indicates a probably final yield per acre of 14 bushels. Deducting a 1.6 per cent abandonment of the planted acreage, there remains 3,269,000 acres for harvest."

Cotton is backward, the agricultural report indicated, but that part of the crop that is up is reported in fair condition. Replanting has been necessary in practically all districts, some growers replanting as many as three times, the review stated. There is reported in several localities a shortage of seed and buying activities are unusually high.

HONOR SYSTEM AT STILLWATER LOST

Students and Faculty Now In Accord With Plans For Honor System

(By the Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., June 2.—The honor system in examinations never generally used at Oklahoma A. and M. college, seems no nearer adoption after the final tests of the college year, just closing than any previous time. With the exception of the school of engineering, the system is not used, and opinion of faculty members and student leaders is almost unanimously against it.

In the engineering school the honor system has been successful this year, according to Dean Edward P. Boyd. A student court enforces it, bringing charges and recommending punishments on convictions. Only two trials have been held in the year. Both resulted in findings of guilty, and President Bradford Knap administered the punishment recommended by the court.

"The development of a high sense of honor in the conduct of students' affairs at an institution has two sides," says President Knapp. "I feel that such a system can be built up gradually. At A. and M. college we are endeavoring to appeal to the good sense of the student body, and the faculty is working toward fair and straight-forward treatment of the students."

"We believe that when we have developed to the point where students have confidence in the faculty the matter of honor between the student body and an instructor will work itself out along proper lines. In many classes in this institution the honor system is conducted admirably, but not in all of them, and it will not be until the increasing high regard and co-operation of the

GERMANS TO AGAIN EXPLAIN WHY THEY SUNK LUSITANIA

BERLIN, June 2.—The German account of the sinking of the Lusitania is to appear shortly in a new volume of the German official naval history of the war.

The account as given in the book is based on the log of Commander Schwieger, of the U 20, and the torpedoing of the Lusitania is justified by the German author on the statement of a customs officer of New York, who contended that the steamship carried ammunition. The same arguments as advanced after the sinking, in which the British were held responsible for the lives lost because they insisted upon carrying ammunition on a passenger steamer, are set forth in great detail in the book.

Pettigo Split by Place Line.

BELFAST.—The British and Free State budgets have created a peculiar situation on the Ulster border. Pettigo village, in Donegal, is partly in the Free State and partly in northern territory. Stamps, tea, cocoa and mineral waters may be bought cheaper on the British side than on the other, and residents in England have a smaller income tax to pay.

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S.S.S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it."

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

The men with the rifles crouched within five feet of him, while those chosen to throw the targets stood some fifteen feet away. Ten men were picked to throw the gourds and dishes. To prevent a too general discharge of targets Crazy Horse ordered that three men on each end of the line should throw in turn, from right to left and transversely, while the four center men should hurl straight ahead, each taking his turn. This would allow not more than three targets crossing Dinsdale's field of vision at the same time.

The gathering on the slope became as quiet as a tableau. All eyes were focused on the motionless figure holding both arms half-raised, the head back as if making a sun dance vow to Wakantanka.

"Be ready!" Scissors broke the silence by yelling as a man on each end drew back his arm.

Then one after another the warriors hurled dish, mug, or plate, and Dinsdale worked both guns for a total of seven shots and dropped his hands to his side as the last dish sailed to the ground.

It did not seem possible to the spectators that he could have released that number of shots. They had expected to hear distinct detonations, and instead it had been a blurred, crackling sound of very brief duration. There was something so casual about the whole performance that none deemed it possible more than one hit could have been scored, and that would be by accident. It was all over so soon there was only one feature which was recalled—how a tin plate had deviated from its gliding flight by jumping convulsively.

"Drop your guns," advised Scissors. Dinsdale did so; then the squaws scuttled forward to bring back the targets. Hands patted against lips. Grunts and sharp yelps sounded. Crazy Horse leaned forward and looked at the prisoner with new respect. Six of the seven shots had registered.

"Did well, son," murmured Scissors. "It's a joke," replied Dinsdale. "Not more than three were in fair position at the same time. I was a fool to miss even the one shot. It was a plate, broadside to, and it shifted to edge-on just as I fired. I'll stick to the bowl and mugs next time. Ask the chief if he wants me to hit the same target more than once, or a different target with each shot."

Scissors put the question and Crazy Horse courteously answered it was for the young man to decide. He said it would be as wakan to hit one target twice as to hit two targets once. Scissors reminded the chief that Dinsdale had five shots left. Then he warned Dinsdale:

"Man on your right has a big bowl. He'll throw across to your left. Pick up your guns."

"Let's hope he throws slow and high," mumbled Dinsdale, bending and securing the guns.

Despite his condemnation of the spinning plates he could not resist centering one the instant it appeared overhead, the full surface showing and making an easy mark. He used

Special Program at Oklahoma University For Alumni Students

(By The Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., June 2.—Five University Oklahoma classes of by-gone years are holding five-year reunions in connection with the Thirty-second annual commencement exercises of the University, in progress now.

Today is alumni day on the commencement program. A polo game between alumni and R. O. T. C. officers was to be held in the morning. Buchanan are among the invited guests.

AIR POSTMAN IN ALASKA RAPIDLY GROWING RICH

FAIRBANKS, Alaska.—Carl B. Eielson, the air postman lying between this city and McGrath, Alaska, a distance of 350 miles, is one of the best paid men in the aerial mail service, according to the local postmaster.

Eielson receives $2 a mile or about $200 an hour. The government furnishes the plane and pays for repairs. Eielson purchases the gasoline and oil, and provides the his left-hand gun on this, and within a second split a mug crossing to his right with the same gun. Then appeared the big bowl, thrown high and traveling in a broad arc from right to left. Firing the last shot in his left-hand gun with much deliberation, he then fired twice with his right, the latter shots blending as one. He dropped the guns and waited.

"Washe-helo!" grunted Crazy Horse. "Bring me the guns. Bring the bowls and the plate."

Scissors carried the revolvers to the robe and remarked:

"Tashuna-ulco now knows my friend could have killed many of Little Big Man's band had we been looking for a fight instead of for this village."

"He was caught with his guns in his belt," spoke up Little Big Man.

"Then let him have the empty guns in his belt and let Little Big Man show Tashuna-ulco how he surprised the white man," challenged Scissors.

This appealed to Crazy Horse, who nodded it should be done, the capture being acted in pantomime. Little Big Man, as master of ceremonies, arrogantly insisted that Dinsdale should stand with his back to the red men and should not attempt to draw a weapon until Little Big Man whistled. Dinsdale dutifully turned his back and Little Big Man and his braves began crawling forward.

Scissors bit his lips in anger at Little Big Man's portrayal of the capture. He was making the spectators believe the white man knew nothing of the Indian's appearance until the dusky hands were all but on them. At last as the half-circle of braves were stretching out hands to haul Dinsdale to the ground Little Big Man whistled, and Dinsdale leaped from them and turned about while his feet were clear of the ground. And the two guns were out and clicking madly and fanning the short line of red men. Versed in pantomime, there was none of the onlookers who did not concede the victory to the white man.

"His gun medicine is very wakan," called out Crazy Horse as he waved the warriors back from continuing their attack. "Bring me the guns."

Taking them from Scissors he walked back to his lodge.

The prisoners returned to the lodge, followed at a respectful distance by the Indians and guarded by the akatic, village police. Little Big Man was much chagrined. His companions were convinced his life had been at the mercy of the young white warrior, and secretly he was admitting the fact himself. As they were passing the lodge of Sorrel Horse the medicine-man stuck out his head and announced:

"Shunca-luta has been trying his new medicine. He tried very hard. He told it to help the white man to shoot."

"It made him miss a very easy shot," Scissors hurled back at him. "It is a very weak medicine just now. It must grow big before it can break jugs."

The medicine-man vanished. When this exchange had been explained to Dinsdale he angrily denounced him.

"The cheap bluffer! Trying to get credit on another man's work. I'm more scared of that snake than I am of the chief."

"You needn't be scared of him at all. I've bought him, I tell you. He must learn how to break jugs and he can only learn on our terms, and he knows it."

"You must teach him the trick before you get the ponies; after that what is there to stop him from deserting us?" asked Dinsdale. "I don't trust him."

"Nor I, except in this one thing. I know how troubled he is. After I've shown him the mysteries of hydraulic pressure it will remain just as much a miracle to him as it was when the jug broke in his hands. He will believe it will refuse to work for him if he plays us false. It's to his interests for us to get away. When he tries the trick he doesn't want us around to say we told him how to do it, and then proceed to prove it by showing others how to do it. You're feeling better, aren't you?" The last as he noted the sparkle in Dinsdale's eyes and the uplifted chin.

"It was having the old guns in my hands again and being allowed to use them," he muttered. "If I could only have them back and be mounted on a good nag! I'd ride through this whole rat trap of a village. It's the danger of being killed in a corner, with no show of fighting back, that takes the heart out of me."

"I'm wakan witshasha. Everything will come out all right. Sorrel Horse will fix it so we can steal away to the ponies within two days."

"Why does he wait and risk our being snatched by some word from High Wolf?"

Scissors sighed and shook his head. "It's the Indian in him. He's as keen to have us go as we are to go. But he can't change his nature. He's got some plan in his head and he's working it out. His elk dream is part of it. His being away in the hills is a part of it. He must take so many steps in this particular dance even if it costs his own life. But remember this: He has much influence with the braves and squaws. They fear him. He'll be one of the first to know if there is a smoke-signal, or hard-riding messenger. In case of either he'll rush things. I believe that he will begin to pick up all the loose threads tomorrow. Then it's a hard ride and the Lord help us!"

Farmers' Column

By
Byron Norrell

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Norrell and I attended the singing at Laxton school house, three miles south of Fitzhugh and four miles east of Roff. Master Carroll Nordean met us at the station at Fitzhugh and drove us to our destination where the ladies were spreading a dinner that would have fed a small army. They proved themselves most excellent cooks and their many appetizing dishes were relished by the several hundred who enjoyed their hospitality, but even then considerable was left over. In my own case I ate chicken until there was no doubt about my having a case of "fowl" stomach.

Dinner cleared away the singing was resumed. Singers from a number of communities were present and some excellent voices were noted among them.

The Laxton citizens are among the most progressive to be found in the county and they take great pride in their school. Two years ago they voted bonds for a four room brick building in order that their children might be cared for comfortably and enjoy a high school education. A substantial teacherage was also built. A very successful term of school has just closed. It was taught by Prof. E. H. Bowman and Misses Hazel Fairchild and Lena Rucker. Prof. H. H. and wife and a teacher yet to be employed will have charge next year.

Laxton is in the midst of one of the best farming and ranching sections of the county and I saw many well cultivated farms from the roadside. I hope to make a more extended trip to the community in the near future.

I have had considerable curiosity to know how commercial fertilizer will work in this country and recently I found another man who is trying it out on his cotton this year. This is William Van Zant of Laxton community. Mr. Van Zant has promised to keep the News informed on the results of his experiment.

Most of the small grain around Fitzhugh seen from the road promises a good yield. A good many Irish potatoes have also been planted in that part of the county. Looks like some of the farmers will not have to wait until the cotton crop comes in before they realize some ready cash.

Cottage Cheese
(John W. Boehr, Dairy Extension Specialist)

In order to secure the best quality of cheese only fresh clean skimmed milk of good flavor should be used. If a pure culture of the lactic acid producing organisms or good clean-flavored buttermilk is available the addition of 5 to 20 percent of the same to the skimmed milk will usually improve the flavor of the cheese as well as shorten the process of manufacture. The milk should be thoroughly stirred after adding the culture or buttermilk is available the souring must proceed naturally. In either case of temperature of the skimmed milk during the souring process, should be maintained at 70 degrees F. to 75 degrees F. If no culture or buttermilk has been used curdling will not usually take place in less than twenty-four hours.

As soon as the milk is firmly curdled, the mass is cut with a knife or broken with the hands or a stirring rod. The vessel containing the curdled milk is now surrounded with warm water and the temperature gradually raised to 90 percent to 95 degrees F., the curd being kept gently stirred while warming.

Scissors jumped from his couch and announced:

"Something will happen today. I feel it. The waiting is ended. I am wakan witshasha, and I know the waiting will be ended today. Get up and be ready for whatever happens. We have much to do."

Dinsdale sprang to his feet, crying: "Show me something to do. It seems as if I had been in this cursed place a million years. What shall I do?"

"First, eat your breakfast. The girl is bringing it now. I must see Sorrel Horse and finish our trade."

"How do you happen to know so much about Indians?" curiously asked Dinsdale after the girl had placed the food on a robe and had departed.

"Played with Sioux boys when I was a boy. After I became wakan I forgot lots of things, but what I learned about Indians seems to have remained with me. Sometimes I find myself singing some of their old songs, songs I hadn't thought of for years."

They made short work of the meal, and Scissors said: "Stick by the lodge. I'll finish my talk with Sorrel Horse very quick."

"And you said there was work to do," grumbled Dinsdale.

"We've spent our last night here if we're ever to see Deadwood City again," assured Scissors. At these words Dinsdale became nervously alert and eager.

The inmates of the village no longer avoided Scissors, or pretended not to see him; but he knew there was only one man in the village who did not wish to see him writhing under the Ogallala knives. He walked aimlessly among the lodges and approached the lodge of Sorrel Horse in a casual manner. On reaching it Scissors halted to watch Sorrel Horse go through his morning custom of hanging his medicine bag to the medicine pole outside the entrance.

"It is time," mumbled Sorrel Horse without looking at the white man. "The ponies are ready. Two Knives Talking will pay for them now?"

"He comes to pay. But the medicine will not work until he has reached the ponies."

Thirty to forty minutes should be taken raising the temperature. When the whey has separated clearly from the curd, which will usually be in fifteen to twenty minutes after heating is completed, it should be drained off and the curd gently stirred for a few minutes. The curd should then be further drained by placing it on cheese cloth on a rack, or in a perforated dish, or by suspending it in a cheese cloth sack for six to ten hours. After whey ceases to drip from the curd the mass of curd is carefully broken into fine particles and salted to suit the taste. Usually one and one-half ounces of salt to each ten pounds of curd will be sufficient.

The curd should now be packed in jars or shaped into bricks and wrapped in parchment paper first and then in oiled or waxed paper.

The program for "Farmers' Week" at Stillwater, August 19 to 22, is being prepared and will soon be printed.

"BOOTH TARKINGTON HAS GIVEN US A WONDERFUL STORY," SAYS MEIGHAN

If Thomas Meighan were a candidate for a public office he probably would not shake hands with more people than he did recently at the Paramount Long Island Studio, where he made his latest picture, "Pied Piper Malone," an original story by Booth Tarkington.

The hand shakers were not voters far from it. They were fifty youngsters, ranging from one year to ten years of age and every morning there was a regular procession of kiddies bringing greetings of the day to their favorite. Some shook hands but some were more fortunate and received a kiss on the cheek and a big hug—especially the blue eyed girls—from Mr. Meighan.

The children were just as big favorites with Mr. Meighan as he was with them. They followed him around the studio in complete adoration, which he returned with equal enthusiasm. The popular star is literally their "Pied Piper" in the picture.

"I am never so happy as when working with children," said Mr. Meighan as he tugged away from a group of his admirers. "They are so unassuming and so natural. They are a wonderful influence on everybody connected with the picture. We all work just like one big family and even if it is a little harder work we like it. Booth Tarkington has given us a wonderfully human story to make. It is packed with heart throbs, human interest, and romance. There is certainly a joy in working in such a story."

"Pied Piper Malone," opens a two days' run at the McSwain theatre today. Lois Wilson, leading woman, heads the strong supporting cast, which includes George Fawcett, Cyril Ring, Charles Stevenson, Joe Burke and a host of others. Alfred Green directed the production. Tom Geraghty wrote the scenario.

Making Bricks Without Straw

THERE IS AN OLD SAYING to the effect that you can't make bricks without straw. However true or false that statement may be, its implication is obvious. To do any work well, you must have the proper equipment.

BECAUSE OF THE GREAT SCOPE of brick-making plants, and the large amount of space required, the question of POWER is an important one. Various processes in the manufacturing operation may necessarily be carried on in widely separated buildings. With the ordinary forms of power used, there is either the problem of great losses incurred in transmitting power from one part of the yard to another, or the duplication of prime movers.

WHEN THE CENTRAL STATION ELECTRIC SERVICE is used, power may be brought into the plant at one point, and distributed to motors driving individual machines or groups of machines. By eliminating mechanical prime movers, the amount of plant space available for productive operations is increased.

Electric drive can be applied to all operations in brick making—excavating, conveying, crushing, pressing, etc. Consult our power specialists for rates and contract terms.
